

DR. WAITE, IN CELL, FINDS SOUL MATE

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, debonair young prisoner who, after several months of diligent effort, succeeded in killing his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, today found a soul mate. Or rather, she found him.

In a letter to Waite in his cell in the Sing Sing death house, where he is kept pending the appeal of his case, the writer told the condemned man that his "cosmic throb" and hers, as revealed by her intuitive self, are the same. She longs to be with him, to comfort him, and to assure him they will be mates in the next world.

Dr. Waite receives many letters from women he never knew. Some console, others scorn, but most express admiration, sympathy and love. Waite spends his time reading the Bible and writing poetry. When former Warden Osborne left Sing Sing Waite bade him a warm adieu.

Osborne thinks Waite excessively abnormal; that he should not be executed but rather locked up for life.

ENGLISH MERCHANTMEN MANNED BY SAILORS
VETERANS IN WARFARE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Oct. 31.—British merchant ships entering and leaving the port of New York are being manned almost entirely by Englishmen who have already served in war and have been honorably discharged, according to the ship-visiting report of The American Seamen's Friend Society. This report, which was made public today by Dr. George Sidney Webster, secretary, shows that in four months the ship-visiting staff of the society was in personal touch with practically 12,000 sailors attached to eighty-one different ships representing twelve steamship lines.

Although a very large number of the sailors in port are English subjects, there are also a great many from other lands. These men, according to the report, are largely either deserters from military service or are avoiding service by coming to this country. Many of these men are Greeks who contract for return voyage to British ports and desert their ship on this side without pay. This, according to Dr. Webster, is one reason for the noticeable shortage in the supply of seamen which many ships have suffered from when preparing for the return trip.

Back To the Bread Line If Wilson's Tariff Is Not Repealed

PRESIDENT WILSON: You are boasting to the voters, through your Department of Commerce and Bureau of Labor, what your Administration and Congress have done for American wage-earners in work provided and payrolls increased for them.

One of your Labor Bureau Bulletins tells of the hundreds of thousands of unemployed bread-winners put to work in the latter part of your term.

But it is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that all of these bread-winners had full employment when you took office and lost that employment by reason of the tariff legislation enacted at your dictation.

You know it is a fact that in the fall of 1914 those hundreds of thousands of American wage-earners were out of work because of the tariff, framed, enacted and put into operation under your personal supervision and at your behest.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that while foreign goods were checked from pouring into our markets by the American tariff system of the Republican party, this country bought abroad in 1912, $581,000,000 less goods than it sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the first six months of 1913, during four months of which you were President, but during all of which the Republican tariff was still in operation, our imports were $286,000,000 lower than our exports.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the whole year of 1913, during ten months of which you were President, but during only three months of which your tariff was in operation, our imports were $691,000,000 lower than our exports.

But it is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the first six months of 1914, with your tariff in operation all those months, this country followed the deadly path of larger and larger imports, driving American industries out of business and American wage-earners out of work, in favor of foreign capital and foreign labor.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in January 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad, $64,000,000 more than we bought abroad; but in January 1914, under your tariff, only $49,000,000 more.

That in February 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $44,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in February 1914, under your tariff, only $25,000,000.

That in March 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $31,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in March 1914, under your tariff, only $4,900,000.

That in April 1913, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $53,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in April 1914, under your tariff, we bought abroad $11,000,000 more than we sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that in the five months from April to August 1913, inclusive, under the Republican tariff, we sold abroad $218,000,000 more than we bought abroad, but in the corresponding months of 1914, under your tariff, we bought abroad $39,000,000 more than we sold abroad.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that your tariff ceased to work havoc with American industries and business and to impoverish American labor only when the war came to dam off, at the source abroad, those cheap labor imports which you had allowed to flood our markets.

It is a fact, and you know it is a fact, that it was the war which put our wage-earners back to work, in spite of your tariff, but that the moment the war stops thousands of munition plants will go out of business and hundreds of thousands of wage-earners employed in them will go off their payrolls.

And more,—that many other industries now supported by the day and night activity of our munition plants and by the vast earning power of the wage-earners in them will be compelled to close down in part or in whole.

Then when those hundreds of thousands of our own wage-earners suddenly lose their employment and the twelve to twenty million wage-earners of the Old World now engaged in war return to their normal occupations, and their surplus products of peace are allowed to flood into this country again as they were flooding in until the outbreak of the war, the work of ruining American industries, which was begun by your tariff before the war, must be completed after the war; the American wage-earners put into the bread-line by your tariff but taken out by the war, must, with peace restored, go back into that bread-line of your making in 1914.

Therefore, President Wilson, when you ask American wage-earners to vote, on November 7th, for your tariff, you ask them to vote to live in a Fool's Paradise of war trade for mere months or weeks, only to be plunged by that tariff immediately afterward back into pauperism and the bread line.

WAKE UP!

It is time that every citizen in Rock county wake up to the fact that on Tuesday next is held the election of a president of the United States, the selection of whom will outline the policies, both domestic and foreign, for the next four years. Friends of Wilson advocate his re-election, and the grounds that he kept us out of war and his opponents urge the election of Hughes on the grounds that Wilson's foreign policy and democratic tree trade bid fair to ruin this nation financially and make us not only the laughing stock of the world, diplomatically, but bankrupt our farmers and manufacturers when this European war is over.

Do the claims what they are the voters of the state should be awake to the situation and go to the polls on Tuesday next and cast their ballot with a full understanding of the situation and what it means to this nation as a whole. Do not vote the orange ticket because your father was a democrat. Do not cast your ballot for Hughes because you are a rigid party man of the U. O. P. stripe, but vote with an understanding of what the election of Wilson or Hughes will mean to you.

The present prosperity, we are told, is a forced prosperity brought about by the European war. We are informed that when this war is over that under our free trade tariff provisions the manufacturers of this country can not compete with the influx of foreign made goods and will be forced to close down, throwing thousands out of employment. That the free trade provisions will also hit the farmers, the stockmen, the grain growers and sheep men, in fact every line of agricultural industry.

If this be true there is but one answer to the problem that confronts the voter and that is to vote for a return to a conservative government with protection for home industries and home labor. Today the United States has millions upon millions of dollars profits stored away in strong boxes as a result of the foreign trade. Capital will not invest in new undertakings if the condition of the business of the country is liable to be chaotic as it is liable to be under free trade policies.

Right here at home today we are confronted with an increase in food prices, due partially to weather conditions, but for the great part to the shortage of railroad facilities to transport freight from one part of the country to another owing to a car shortage. Why does this exist? Why have coal prices gone skyward? Certainly not because of the need of coal for the European war, but because the railroads have no cars to spare to bring it from the mines to the markets. This is explained in a few sentences.

Capital owns the railroads. Capital will not invest its money in times when there is danger of serious reaction in business conditions. Fearful of this condition coming they have not increased their rolling stock to any material degree, have not spent money on extensions, have not invested in improvements that normally would have come. The passage of the eight hour Adamson law was one of the reasons for this unrest, and while this law really gains nothing for organized labor, still it shows the attitude of the dogmatic democratic administration towards capital.

However, be it as it may, it is time for the voter to plan to cast his ballot on Tuesday next as his good judgment indicates he should. He is the final judge, his opinion should not be swayed by lies or claims, but by good, sound, common sense, and the Gazette has every confidence in this trait of the American people not to make a mistake. Men differ in opinion, but if we were all of one mind there would be a Utopian condition that would greatly resemble the Garden of Eden and not make life worth living in the modern, every day sense of the word.

ISSUES WARNING.

Senator La Follette in an address in Milwaukee, Monday evening, paid his compliments to the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce in particular and to all boards of trade in general. Not only did he do this, but he issued a warning in the paragraph of his talk when he said: "Better look after your business from now on, because I'll be after you. I'll give you a chance to lie awake nights to consider your political blunders."

This followed his description of the members of the Chamber of Commerce in which he stated: "The Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce produces nothing; it makes nothing; it lives off the products of others." He even went a bit further and pictured them as men who build fortunes, ride in big automobiles, live in palatial homes and "never sweat an honest drop of sweat."

Nice talk for a candidate for the United States senate to give to an audience in the midst of a political campaign in which he seeks their approbation and support. His address was punctuated with his own personalities, but he failed to mention Governor Philipp, republican candidate for governor, nor advise his audience to vote for Hughes, the standard-bearer of the presidential honors of the party under whose cognomen he sails.

It was a typical La Follette speech with all the old time venom and denunciation of capital. Delivered in Milwaukee it was a grandstand play for the socialist vote, the vote that gave him the control of the delegation to the republican national convention last April and again aided materially in his nomination for the office he seeks at the September primaries. What the result will be is not hard to say.

Another Janesville boy demonstrates that the old time athletic prowess of the Bower City is not forgotten at the university. When Ray Edler made his wonderful end run at Madison in the Chicago-Wisconsin game last Saturday he merely kept up the old traditions of Rock county athletes.

Tonight is Halloween. Do not forget that you were a boy once when you hear mysterious sounds arising from the darkness. Be prepared to be scared when the tick-tack sounds or the bell rings mysteriously and you find the grinning pumpkin on the front porch staring you in the face. Laugh and the world laughs with you.

Phillip is certain of re-election, but make his endorsement so strong that there will be no question about it. At the same time elect good, strong, honest, fearless men to the legislature, who will aid him in the work of reforming the reformers.

Villa has died as many times as the average hero in a popular movie, so why dispute the fact he is posing once more for another death. Like a cat, he evidently has nine lives to live and is no where near the end yet.

When wheat reaches that two dollar mark some one will surely suggest that the "staff of life" should have a diamond setting, and yet the price of bread soars.

An exchange says: "Black Bill Bryan on Tom Taggart's chest. Yo ho and a bottle of grape juice!" Then, use Pluto water as a follow up dose.

It is almost time for another rook-back to come out of his hole and growl at the candidates in a very savage manner.

Learning to play the ukulele is a lot easier than spelling the blamed thing or listening to a beginner play the scale for the first time.

New dimes have been put in circulation, but in this era of high prices what chance has a dime anyway?

Another submarine problem for the administration and probably handled in the same apologetic manner.

Hold Your Hats.
I'm no Socialistic yawper,
But I really declare,
That I'd rather live a pauper,
Than die a millionaire.

(Synopsis of preceding chapters: The action takes place in Pennsylvania, in 1740. Mrs. Percy Vere Long, a beautiful but honest New York widow of English-Dutch extraction, flees to the Pennsylvania woods to escape the attentions of the ghost of her deceased husband, which has been haunting her New York home. Striding in the Pennsylvania woods, she meets Werrenrath Goger, the only man that she ever really loved. At that moment war whoops made themselves heard on all sides, and Mrs. Long and Goger are pursued by a savage band of Souise Indians, brandishing their spears above their heads and tomahawks at the top of their voices. An exciting chase begins. Goger and Mrs. Long outdistance their pursuers for a while by stealing a ride on a passing locomotive. Before they fall off the cowcatcher they obtain the engineer's promise to telephone for a rescue party as soon as he reaches a station. Worn out and breathless, they are forced to stop, and the Souise capture them, tying them each to a steak with onions, prepare to set them afire.)

Conclusion: With sudden inspiration, Mrs. Percy Vere Long managed to reach down and extract a wireless telegraph instrument from her stocking. Desperately.

(Editor's note: The books of reference in this office show that trains, telephones, etc., were not heard of in the days of which the author speaks, so in justice to our readers we cannot allow the story to continue.)

BITTER POLITICAL ROW OVER CHINESE APPOINTMENT
Peking, Oct. 31.—Lieutenant-General Aoki's appointment by the Chinese government as military adviser has resulted in a bitter political row. Several members of the cabinet and a large faction in the parliament are endeavoring to clothe the new adviser with such power that he will be able to assign army officers to whatever commands he desires. This effort is being stoutly resisted on the ground that it will make the army an organ for the advancement of Japanese interest in China.

BRAZIL OFFERS BIG CHANCE FOR YOUTH, STRONG AND WILLING

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 31.—That young America is casting a speculative eye on Brazil is evident from the hundreds of letters received by Americans already established here.

"What are the chances for a young man, with large ambition, to make a bank account in Brazil?" he writes. "The answer is, 'The Chances in Brazil are very good'—(and it is an important 'if')—if you can speak the Portuguese language. Incidentally it is a serious mistake to suppose that one can 'get by' by speaking Spanish. Spanish is no better understood than English in Brazil."

The United States puts on considerable chest over its size and natural resources, but in neither one has anything but the best of the world's fourth largest country in the world, its natural resources are unlimited and it has a population of about twenty-five millions which has but not driven its frontier more than a third of the way to the western boundary.

Agriculture is by far the most important occupation, with commerce, construction, transportation, mining, lumbering and manufacturing following in order of importance. All are in about the same stage of development as they were in the United States in Van Buren's administration. In only a few of the industries are the methods modern. American up-to-date methods and ingenuity are eagerly welcomed, however.

The climate ranges from torrid heat of the tropical Amazon to occasional frosts in the southernmost part. The average harvest from two to five times a year. Coffee, rubber, sugar, tobacco, cotton, grains, fruit and live stock products are the chief sources of agricultural riches. In the export of agricultural products and the import of practically all the Brazilian uses in manufacturing goods, commerce prospers—in the hands of foreigners who carry on practically all the commercial activities of the country. A new country whose chief thought is its own development gives the engineer, the contractor and the builder the opportunity he seeks and there is no limit to the range of his work. Railroads are penetrating the jungled valleys following the course of rivers and the thousands of rivers that tumble from the mountain ranges. Villages and towns are being built in farming centers, at the mouth of mines and where trails cross.

Gold, precious stones, coal, iron, copper and rarer metals make it worth while to mine in Brazil. Manufacturing is still very much an infant industry. Seventy-five million people will be added to the present population of Brazil in the next few years. Brazil accomplished the feat that has worked in the United States from Van Buren to Wilson, and just as many fortunes will be made here as there were in the interval. Those fortunes will be made in about the same way and by the same kind of men—pioneers.

PHILIPPINE LACES AND EMBROIDERIES ARE IN DEMAND DUE TO WAR.

(By Associated Press.)
Manila, Oct. 31.—The European war and the consequent closing of the European sources of production of embroideries and laces has given a tremendous impetus to this industry in the Philippines. Before the war it had already reached large proportions in Manila and the provinces, the public schools were giving it their attention in an effort to train girls in the art of producing fabrics which would meet commercial needs, and American commercial interests had established agencies here.

The war has increased this business to such an extent that it is seemingly impossible to meet the demand. At present more than 20,000 women in Manila alone are employed in shops and homes on fine embroidery and laces and the monthly payroll is in excess of $100,000 a month.

U. S. AMBULANCE CORPS
LEAVE PARIS FOR SALONIKI
Paris, Oct. 31.—A section of the American ambulance field service left Paris today for Saloniki. It consists of thirty-one ambulances (ten in service), two supply cars and twenty-five volunteers. Loverin Hill of New York, who has been in charge of this section for eighteen months on the western front, continues as its leader. This was the first of the field sections to serve at the actual front and has been cited in many orders as a body for its work in Alsace, in Lorraine and at Verdun.

Mr. Treat having served as trustee during the entire thirty-five years. The church bears the unique distinction of never having been in debt, and this is more remarkable from the fact that no collections are taken up at any of the services. The celebration of the anniversary closed with a banquet for the members, 225 plates being laid.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Monroe, Wis., Oct. 31.—"Jack" Mahara, known to practically all lovers of negro minstrelsy, has deserted the footlights for the lead mines, as a result of the high prices due to the European war. Jack is in charge of one of the ore crushers at the Anthony mines near Meekers Grove, Wis., in which his sister holds the controlling interest. "I have to get up and go to work now at the time I usually was going to bed, and go to bed at the time I used to be spreading on burnt cork," is the way Jack speaks of the change which has come into his life. And he added: "But I am regaining my health and that is the best of all."

It began with a rash which was of such a burning itching nature that at times she was nearly wild. For many weeks she could not put her hands in water and she could not sleep.

"She suffered intensely for several weeks and I tried wringing towels out of hot water and putting a rubber sheet across her, but she wasn't helped. The Doctor said to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did and the itching and burning left her, and I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap and she was completely healed." SCIENTISTS GIVE US
PLAN TO FIGHT PESTS.

(By Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 31.—"Wear yellow and bluff the mosquito," is the slogan of scientists who are fighting this little pest and who have discovered the carnivorous insect's antipathy to that primary color. Their discoveries are supported by the testimony of United States Marines, just returned here from the Philippines, who attribute their immunity from mosquito-bite and malarial infection to the fact that their khaki uniform is of a yellow hue.

The wise summer vacationist of the future will bear in mind this message of hope from scientists and U. S. Marines and carry along a generous supply of yellow hosiery. Still, some pessimistic persons will be bound to insist that mosquitoes are color-blind.

Jury Finds Italian Was Shot and Killed by Person or Persons Unknown—Quick Decision.

It took a "concoction" jury just about four minutes this morning to decide that.

Raffaele Palmer was shot and killed by an unknown person or persons.

The jury was composed of E. E. Green, Glen E. Snyder, George W. Caldwell, Philip Doherty, Patrick Kavanagh and Robert M. Boyd.

The inquest brought no new developments. The testimony was only that which was known beforehand by the police and District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie. It was dry to the large gallery and without any high points, and was only routine to the officers. Little more than an hour was consumed for the proceedings and less than four minutes after the jury retired they had returned with the verdict.

None Held.
Nobody could be held on the strength of testimony that was given by the witnesses. The suspicion pointed towards a single person or to any group. True to predictions of both Mr. Dunwiddie and Chief of Police Champion, the inquest brought no new developments. Both, at the close, admitted themselves as much perplexed today as on the day following the crime.

V. E. Palmer, who conducted the autopsy over the body, was the first witness. He described the entrance and exit of the bullets and contradicted the first assertion that there had been nine shots fired into the body. Three holes on the face which were originally thought to have been made by bullets, upon examination were found to be holes caused by the bullet when Palmer fell to the ground. He was shot from the right side and as he lay on the ground, face downward, he was shot still more.

Fell on Bottle.
Witnesses later testified that there was a broken glass bottle under the man's face and it is figured that this and a bullet shattered the face.

Mr. Palmer said that the nature of the wounds and the scorched skin showed that the murderer had pressed his pistol close to the body.

From the nature of the wounds and the position, the shot was fired by a man, a man in stature, as Palmer was a short man and the wounds were low on his body.

Frank Palmer, brother of Raffaele, was the next witness. He testified that he had seen the murderer, a man in stature, as Palmer was a short man and the wounds were low on his body.

side her children, live in the house. It was the property of her mother, she said.

Jim Copperaldo, the man whom Angelo Contante testified Palmero fought, she said, was her brother-in-law. She had not seen him since the quarrel and had never heard from him. Like Frank Palmer, she knew no enemy of her husband would be liable to have.

She read all his letters, she said, and none had contained threats of any nature. To her knowledge, Palmero never received a letter from Michigan. The police were told that he had and it was this that led them to believe that because of Palmero's activity which resulted in the capture here of an Italian mine worker who shot a mine foreman near Hancock and Houghton, Mich., two years ago, he had been murdered.

Borrowed Money.
Her husband had borrowed considerable money, but she could not say how much. She even did not know how much was loaned. She did not know his business, she said. He had never told her. She thought he still owed at least a portion of the money borrowed at the time when the money was loaned to her or whom the money was she did not know.

Seven years ago she testified she secured a divorce from her first husband. Cruel and inhuman treatment was the ground on which she married Palmero. Her first husband did not approve of the separation and wanted her to continue to live with him. She is now near New York. She was not seen or heard from him in seven years.

"Y" HAS MEETING OF COUNTY SECRETARIES

Secretary Markham Returns From Successful Convention Held in Chicago.

What was probably the greatest boost that has ever been given to the work of the county Y. M. C. A. was work of the recent convention of County Y. M. C. A. Secretaries, held at Chicago, from which Rock County Secretary L. A. Markham has just returned.

It was in reality of much broader scope than would be imagined. It was a county life conference and was made up of men who enter into all phases of rural life; it considered all branches of public life in the farming communities, and attempted to co-ordinate the work of these.

It has been found that the Y. M. C. A. is practically the only agency that can go into a rural community and work for no other than the people, but for the general advancement of the life in all lines; this is because it is thoroughly impartial and unselfish and gains the confidence of the people, who realize that they are not being deluged with propaganda for the advancement of some private interest or of any one line of endeavor.

This was the fundamental inspiration of the convention and also the problem of the meeting; the task of bringing about co-operation of the diverse interests of a rural community. At the convention were representatives from sixteen states, and under the guidance of authorities who know the social and psychological conditions of different types of people and communities, these county secretaries outlined their task and perfected a few of the details of their work.

Secretary Markham returns from the meeting with redoubled enthusiasm over the work ahead of him. He has been fortunate in securing Ted Schroeder, a Y. M. C. A. secretary from the war zone, to talk to a meeting of the Shopiere Moonlight club on the evening of November 14th.

There will also be a meeting of the Fathers' and Sons' club at Newark tomorrow night. At this meeting Mr. Brown, secretary of the boys' department of the Beloit association, will speak. Other rural meetings are being held two or three times a week, and the winter season will soon be in full swing in all parts of the county.

LOCAL TOBACCO WAS IN SHIPMENTS THAT ENGLAND RELEASED

Shipments by the F. G. Borden Company to Holland This Past Fall

Rock county has a particular interest in the announcement that the English government has released large shipments of American tobacco held in Copenhagen and Rotterdam. In these shipments were cases of tobacco shipped by the F. G. Borden company of this city to foreign firms which had been handled in various Rock county warehouses of the firm.

The dispatch announcing the release of the tobacco says: "As the result of protests by the United States, Great Britain has agreed to release about $3,000,000 worth of American tobacco now tied up in Copenhagen and Rotterdam."

The official statement of the facts says: "Officers of the department express much satisfaction over the concession given in the case."

Rule Changed Suddenly. This tobacco was held under a sudden change in policy by Great Britain of which this government had no notice. Great Britain, apparently over night, issued instructions that all tobacco should be considered as the property of the United States and by special guarantees in the cases of Scandinavian countries. The position of Great Britain was so indiscreet that she was obliged to surrender to the protest of the United States in behalf of the tobacco interests.

The state department also announced that certain amounts of tobacco which were put on railroads before August 31, but which have been detained at the seaboard were permitted to go forward free of all restrictions.

Shipped Before August 31. The statement of the British embassy on the subject, as given out by the state department, made under bona fide contracts entered into before July 15 need not be assigned to the Netherlands. Over 100,000 cases of tobacco, provided that the consignee shall have been put on rail under a through bill of lading for land and sea carriage or shipped under a direct steamship bill of lading before August 31.

Further Concession Sought. The state department is beginning what has been done by Great Britain, says.

It was first announced as a concession to the American tobacco interests that tobacco bought and paid for prior to August 4 and shipped prior to August 21 would be allowed to go forward free of the restrictions referred to above. It was found, however, that this concession was inadequate to remove the hardships brought upon the tobacco interests by the sudden imposition of the restrictions named, and the department of the British government has since made every effort possible to secure a more favorable rule.

Orfordville, Oct. 30.—The funeral of the late A. N. Bruns was held at the residence of his son, N. A. Bruns, and from the local Lutheran church on Monday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. O. J. Kvaal. Two of his sons, kind of Northwood, Iowa, and Ole of Minor, North Dakota, were unable to be present. His daughter, Mrs. A. Solberg of Bloomington, was present, and with the two sons, N. A. and A. A., residing in this vicinity with their families, and a host of friends, tenderly escorted their father to his last resting place.

Mr. Bruns had resided in the vicinity since 1844, at which time he came from Norway and settled on a farm in the town of Plymouth, a few miles east of the village, where he resided continuously until his death. Since the death of his wife, which occurred nine years ago, he had made his home with his son, at whose home he died. He was a man universally respected by all who knew him.

NEWS NOTES & MOVIELAND

"Hidden Valley" is the title of a five-reel picture starring Valkyrien, otherwise known as the Baroness Dewitz, to be released early in the week. David Marshall is the leading man in the feature, which is the story of a heathen tribe in South Africa that captures an American girl and makes her their queen.

MME. PETROVA HAS NEW LEADING MAN. Barle Fox, who won fame in the "legitimate" as well as in motion pictures, is supporting Mme. Petrova, in her new production. In the play, now being given at the College Theatre, Fox is seen as a weakling who fails in everything he attempts because he is unable to control a craving for drugs.

Mr. Fox was born in Oxford, Ohio. He attended the Miami Military Academy and Ohio State University, and went on the stage eleven years ago with a stock company in Cincinnati. Next he came to Beloit at the College Theatre, Chicago.

William Hawtree saw him there, was deeply impressed by his acting and engaged him to appear at the Old Billy. He went to London with Old Billy, and returning joined the "Third Degree" in Chicago.

Afterward he was seen with Annie Russell, Wilton Lackaye and Douglas Fairbanks. Four years ago Mr. Fox became a motion picture actor.

ART LOVERS TO SEE ETHELMAYR'S PORTRAIT. Little Ethelmayer Oakland, the diminutive star, has just finished posing for a full-length portrait by Emil Fuchs, who until the war broke out was portrait painter to the King of England. This painting of Ethelmayer shows the beautiful blonde child in one of her serious moods, with hands crossed in her lap looking dreamily into space. She is dressed in a shimmering olive green silk old-fashioned mother Hubbard with a quaint tam-o-shanter of the same color and material edged in fur.

The latest bulletin in connection with Olga Petrova is that the Beauxpicture, "Fires of Conscience," will be shown at the Beauxpicture, Nov. 2, at two o'clock. Following the busy meeting a lunch will be served by a committee.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls sixteen and seventeen years old, from good families and fairly attractive.

(1) Are we too young to go with fellows?
(2) If not, how can we secure steady company?
(3) We have always expected to go with older girls than ourselves and we appear to be older than we really are. Do you think it is all right to go with older girls?
(4) Is it all right to let the fellows kiss us? All the other girls do and the fellows have got so they expect it. It is wrong, how can we retain their friendship without doing it?
(5) I am a little late should a fellow stay?
(6) Who should be on the outside when there are two girls and a fellow walking down the street?
(7) When a fellow calls to take you to a dance, you should pass out of the door first?
(8) If a fellow has been keeping company with a girl, is it proper for him to wait until six o'clock or later to ask for a date?
(9) I think you are too young.
(10) If you are attractive and interesting enough to hold boys' interest, you will want to go with a steady. However, it is a bad plan to go with one boy unless you are engaged.
(11) If you like them it is all right. I should think you would prefer girls your own age.
(12) Experience has taught me that the girls who have lasting popularity are not the girls who permit boys to kiss them. Don't let boys kiss you. It isn't complimentary to have a fellow go with you for the kisses he can get and nothing else. Magnetic personalities are far more powerful to hold boys than kisses.

(13) Until ten or ten-thirty.
(14) It really doesn't matter who goes on the outside, but it is considered proper for the boy to do so.
(15) The girl.
(16) Yes. Even if a boy is not keeping company, it is all right to ask him to ask for a date when ever he wants to.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady of nineteen and have been going with a young man of twenty-three and I dearly love him. He told me that he loves me, too, and he takes me places. People tell me that he goes with other girls. I feel lost and feel as though he doesn't love me. We are engaged to be married. If he loved me as he ought to would he go with others? What can I do to win his love? BESSIE.
The man ought not to go with other girls if he is engaged to marry you. Tell him what you have heard, and find out what he has to say about the matter. If he insists upon going with other girls, you better break your engagement because he does not love you as he should. You can't be afraid of him, because you cannot keep his love if you fear that you will lose it.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is the mind of a twenty-one-year-old girl settled enough to know if he really loves a girl of sixteen?
(2) If he lives out of town, how often should he write?
(3) Should they exchange Christmas gifts?
(4) I don't think it is.
(5) Once or twice a week. Oftener would be silly.
(6) If they want to and make the gifts inexpensive.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls fourteen and sixteen years old. Should we go walking with neighborhood boys?
(2) Are we old enough to have "beaux"?
(3) TWO SCHOOL CHUMS.
(4) No.

things costs?" he asked, stopping to look at the girl at his side.
"Yes, I priced it, but I do not want to buy it. You feel the same about the things you buy, for I have heard you say so," pouted Marjory.
"I see you finish," laughed the young man. "You certainly are a spender." "We are two of a kind there," said Marjory with conviction, and she was right.

Household Hints

CURRY POWDER DISHES.

Curry powder may be used with excellent results in the preparation of a wide variety of dishes. Following are several recipes:
Curry of Veal—Materials: Slice of veal, one and a half pounds; curry powder, one teaspoon; four, two tablespoons; lemon juice or vinegar, one teaspoon; and steamed rice.
Directions: Wash a piece of veal, cold water and wipe one-half pound, cut one-half inch thick, and cook in frying pan without butter, quickly searing on all sides, then the other side on a board and cut in one and one-half inch pieces. Fry two sliced onions in one-half cup of butter until brown, remove onions and add the curry powder, then cover with boiling water. Cook slowly until the meat is tender. Thicken with flour diluted with enough cold water to make a paste; then add one teaspoon vinegar and a dash of salt. Serve with a border of steamed rice.
Curry of Kidney Beans—Materials: Beans, one pint; butter, one cup; two tablespoons; onion, one; tomato, one; salt, strained; salt, one teaspoon.
Directions: Wash and soak the beans over night; next morning drain, cover with fresh boiling water, simmer until tender. Put the onion or oil in sauce pan, add the onion, chopped, shake over the fire until the onion is soft; add the curry powder; mix and add the flour; add the tomatoes, strained, salt, and when boiling add the beans. Cook slowly fifteen minutes and dish in a border of rice.
Curry of Vegetable Soup—Materials: Dried carrots, one and one-half cups; dried turnips, one and one-half cups; dried celery, one cup; sliced or chopped onion, three cups; bay leaf, one; butter, two tablespoons; salt, three tablespoons; hot stock, one quart; salt; paprika; curry powder, one teaspoon; and grated apple, one.
Directions: Put the carrots and turnips into the sauce pan, cover with boiling water, boil until all tender; in the spices put the butter and cook the chopped onion until tender and the celery slightly browned; add the flour and stir until well blended. Gradually add the hot stock, stirring constantly until smooth. Add the carrots, turnips, celery, and bay leaf. Simmer for one hour. Add the sliced apple, drained vegetables and the uncooked celery. Cover and simmer very gently until the vegetables are done. More or less hot stock may be added to suit individual tastes, or all may be put through a sieve. This makes a vegetable puree soup. It is a good lunch or soup or may be used as the main dinner soup.

GINGLES' JINGLES

THINK RIGHT.

Stay by the things you know are right, stick by the stuff that is good, 'tis not a hardship thus imposed should you desire you could; there's much of interest in this world, there's much to take your time, a million things await you here to make your stay sublime. But we've been told, and all should know, that we must seek to find, that if we would enjoy we must present an open mind that's free from jealous tendencies, from hatred and from fear, accepting that which calms and soothes and keeps our vision clear. Think on the good, forget the bad, accept the pleasant thought, the cheerful side will linger, then, the gloomy side cannot; a spirit is a living thing, that's nourished by your mind, the sort of food you furnish will determine just the kind of spirit that shall live within your little house of clay—the kind of man that you shall be upon the judgment day.

TWO WOMEN RUNNING FOR CONGRESS SEATS

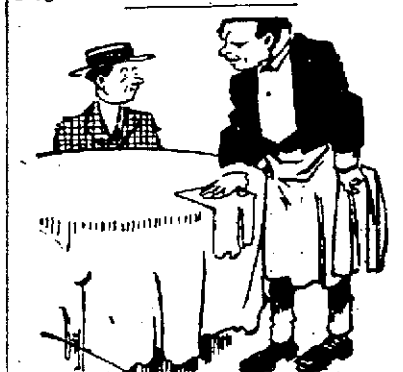

Official lists of candidates of recognized parties for the congressional and state elections coincident with the presidential voting on Nov. 7 show there will be at least two women running for Congress and more than twenty women in the contest for state offices.
In Montana Jeannette Rankin is the regular Republican nominee for Congress, and in Colorado Hattie K. Howard is running on a progressive ticket.
The Associated Press has just compiled all the state tickets from every state in the Union and it appears from these lists that there are exactly 46 women candidates for various state offices. The figure may be slightly reduced or increased by the fact that some names which almost certainly seem to be those of women have escaped identification by the use of initials instead of their full names, but the figures given, if not precise are interesting since they develop the following facts:
Of the 46 women seeking state offices the majority (24) are nominees of the Socialist party.
Idaho is the only state in the United States where a woman is candidate for governor, Annie E. Tripp being the Socialist nominee for chief executive there.
Thirteen other states throughout the country where women are seeking state offices, namely, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Illinois, and Kansas.
In Washington there are two women candidates, Prohibitionist and Socialist. In Connecticut, Rhode Island, Arizona, Colorado and Kansas there are women candidates for secretary of state. Various other offices, principally as trustees of state universities, or superintendents of public institutions are held by women. In only one or two rare instances does it appear that the women candidates are now holding the office for which they seek election.

CHINESE GIRL HURT AT AVIATION MEET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Peking, Oct. 31.—Miss Chiang, the daughter of General Chiang Tsing-ping, member of the Chinese General Staff, was dangerously injured in an airplane accident at the first public exhibition of the army corps recently held at Nanyuan near Peking. She made the flight with Pilot Yao, one of the best aviators in the Chinese army. The plane, a biplane, was damaged by the manipulation of the machine, which dropped from a height of several hundred feet within sight of thousands of spectators who attended the exhibition. The pilot wore a heavy safety helmet, and escaped with slight injuries, but Miss Chiang wore no helmet and sustained concussion of the brain.
The aviation meet continued for two days, and attracted immense crowds from all over North China. The army aeroplanes participated in six flights were made both in biplanes and monoplanes by Chinese aviators, who showed great skill. Most of the aeroplanes used were built by the Chinese under the direction of French mechanics. Tom Gun, an American-born Chinese, who has gained considerable fame as an aviator, has been engaged as an instructor in the Chinese army aviation school.
The Nanyuan aviation ground is located about ten miles from Peking. During the meet aeroplanes flew over the Chinese capital every morning and every afternoon, attracting much attention and causing not a little uneasiness among superstitious coolies, who regarded them as evil omens.

AN OLD FURNITURE SECRET

How A Famous Furniture House Cleans and Beautifies Fine Pieces

The old established house of Tobey (Chicago & New York), makers of fine furniture, uses a secret shop formula for cleaning and beautifying the rich finishes of all furniture they make. This formula is now offered to the world in the form of Tobey Polish. Already it is being used in the finer homes throughout the country. It restores the original finish by removing all dirt and blemishes. Cleans off dirt and grease much more easily than soap and water. Wipes off dry, leaves no oily film or streak. Does not dry or crack the finest finish, but renews the elasticity of the varnish. Further advantages are the ease and speed with which it works. Results are instantaneous. No hard work, no hard rubbing. After the furniture and woodwork have been cleaned with Tobey Polish, a little used on the dust cloth will keep everything looking new from day to day. Try it on any article of furniture from a chair to a piano. There is nothing like it for cleaning and preserving the finish of automobile bodies. Gives a beautiful polish that will not collect dust.
Don't wash fine varnished surfaces. Don't use "polishes" that shine today and mar tomorrow. Try Tobey Polish—the same old secret formula used by a famous furniture house. Bottles 25c and 50c; quart jug; $1.

REPORT CARDS FOR LIFE.

Do you remember the report cards you used to get when you were in school? Of course you do. That is the sort of thing one doesn't forget in a lifetime. I can shut my eyes now and see those little black G's and F's, with an E for English and a P for drawing (we are marked by the system of Excellent, Good, Fair, Poor, and Capital B, alleged by the teachers to stand for Very Poor, when he could plainly see that it was the initial of a shorter and more emphatic word).

Krumbs

To return to the main road. Wouldn't it be rather a good idea if there were someone to give us report cards later in life? Not on our studies, but on such things as social tact, manners, self-expression, etc. How would The Average Girl Stand in Expression?
It would be interesting to see how one stood, wouldn't it? And don't you think girls who stood well in other departments would be surprised to find what a bad mark they would get in expression? I do. And I have a letter friend who feels that prompted me to write this reminder. Here it is.

They Expressed "Yes" or "No" by Grunts.
"Two girls sat behind me at the theater the other night. Their conversation was sprinkled with 'perfectly grand,' 'fine and dandy,' 'just swell' and I never was so thrilled in all my life. When the heroine died, one girl said, tearfully, 'That just gets my goat!' They expressed 'yes' and 'no' by grunts.
"When I left the theater I looked at those two slangy young people. They were pretty, refined-looking young girls. Then I thought of what they had said. Their sentences were so full of slang, but it was difficult to believe that ladies could express themselves in such a common way, and I was puzzled as to how to place them.

It is Natural to Eat With Your Grunts.
"So often girls say, 'It is natural for me to speak with a twang, or to use slang. It would be affected if I did not.' It is natural, also, to speak incorrectly, to eat with your fingers, to tell people you do not like to go home, and to do various other rude and uncivilized things. But you do not want to behave like a young savage, or to act and talk like an uncultivated and common person. You may say that all education is in a sense unnatural, but that does not keep it from being an improvement. What the woman behind would think of one's conversation is an interesting question to ask one's self, isn't it?

"I say," some class to this establishment. It costs like the deuce but it is worth it," he swelled with the consciousness of bringing his bride to this place where everything proclaimed its cost almost as visibly as it labeled with a circular sticker.
"What do you suppose Gertrude Atherton said to me this afternoon?" There was a deep sense of injury in Marjory's tone.
"Couldn't say," said Tom, puzzled.
